The Marijuana Stock Market

- Our 81 Marijuana Stocks are down about 70%.
- The bloom is clearly off the rose.
- The SEC has now stopped trading in 10 marijuana stocks, more than 10% of our sort.
- Will the speculative premium seen early this year happen again? We get an idea from the announcement of Adult use in Washington.
- The market took that announcement, a truly major event, with little enthusiasm
- As with any industry group, this market has now become a long term investment proposition.
- Good individual research should help you pick companies on a long term basis that will survive
- We will talk further about what to look for in picking a long term investment in the marijuana stock market
